

Immunocal Platinum®

Product Description

Immunocal Platinum, the next generation of Immunocal, is a big step forward for those looking to slow the effects of aging and wear and tear on the body, especially baby boomers, athletes and the maturing population.

Highlight Ingredients

Immunocal whey protein isolate. This is not just any whey protein isolate. This patented isolate from whey is specially prepared to provide a rich source of bioavailable cysteine, the major building block (precursor) for your body's ability to make glutathione. In common processing, these proteins may be broken down (denatured) so the cysteine availability is greatly decreased and glutathione production is hampered. Immunocal preserves these important precursors in their natural non-denatured state. The isolate in the Platinum product is even more refined than the original to provide increased health supportive benefits.

Cytokine Modulating Proteins (CMP™ *). This represents the next generation of whey protein subfractions. Cytokines are proteins used to coordinate the body's immune response to infectious agents and help manage normal cellular growth. Cytokines also act as signals in the immune system to turn on or off inflammation. Through proprietary isolation technology, Immunocal has been enriched to provide a new level of immune support available exclusively in Immunocal Platinum. These components play roles in repairing cell damage, promoting healthy cell differentiation and growth, and inhibiting abnormal cell growth. *CMP is a trademark of Glanbia LLC

Redox Modulating Formula (RMF). RMF is a proprietary blend of creatine and a citrate complex including potassium, magnesium, calcium and citric acid. This unique blend of minerals, electrolytes, citrates and creatine supports natural pH balance in the body. The creatine further helps to maintain optimal lean body muscle mass. These features can be especially beneficial if a person eats a high-protein diet, seeks to lose weight, or regularly engages in strenuous exercise.

Complementary Products

Daily Essentials Pack. Your Daily Essential Pack supplies you with optimized levels of vitamins, minerals and fatty acids for the support of good health and well-being. You need all your essential nutrients each and every day to maintain healthy cellular function.

F.I.T.T. Weight Management System.

Immunocal Platinum is an excellent way to support your optimal health each and every day – and especially while you are losing weight. Immunocal Platinum has an added advantage of helping to limit the loss of muscle mass which is important when you are trying to lose weight. It also helps the body maintain a healthy pH balance when you are consuming more protein.

Features

- Free of gluten, corn, starch, wheat, soy
- No preservatives

Benefits

This product is great for anyone who wants all the benefits of the original Immunocal, plus:

- Natural support for optimizing pH (acid/base) balance
- Prevention of calcium loss
- Maintenance of proper muscle strength and function
- Support for a healthy immune system
- Supports against the effects of aging
- An increase in energy levels, strength and endurance

Daily Usage:

Use two pouches daily in your favourite juice. Immunocal Platinum can also be added to a soft food like applesauce. Do not mix with milk or other dairy products.